U.S. Destroyer Attacked By 3 North Vietnamese PT Boats

Navy Returns Fire Off Viet Nam Coast

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — Three patrol torpedo boats without identifying markings attacked the U.S. Navy destroyer Maddox off the coast of North Viet Nam on Sunday but inflicted no damage, the U.S. Pacific Command reported.

The Maddox and four carrier planes returned the fire, the Navy said, and drove the boats off, one badly damaged and dead in the water, the other two damaged and retreating slowly. The Maddox left the area.

In New York, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the attacking boats were North Vietnamese. The Navy announcement had made no identification.

President Johnson was informed of the attack on the Maddox, but made no immediate comment.

A spokesman said the destroyer was not damaged and none of her 274 enlisted men and officers was hurt. The Maddox is flagship of the 7th Fleet's Destroyer Division 192.

Time 4:08 a.m.

Time of the attack was given as 4:08 a.m. EDT.

The attack, by 37MM fire and three torpedoes, was unprovoked and occurred in international waters of the Tonkin Gulf, about 80 miles southeast of Hanoi and 30 miles off the coast of Communist North Viet Nam, Pacific Command and Defense Department statements said.

Fire from the unmarked patrol torpedo boats was returned by the Maddox's 5-inch guns and 20MM strafing and rocket attacks from four F8 crusader jet fighters from the carrier Ticonderoga, the spokesman said.

The defensive fire badly damaged the three boats, the report said, and at least one of them was left powerless and floating helplessly.

Decides To Fire

The Pacific Command said the decision to return the fire from the PT boat probably was made by Capt. John J. Herrick of Garden Grove, Calif., commodore of the destroyer division, and Maddox skipper, Cmdr. Herbert L. Ogier of St. Petersburg, Fla.

The formal announcement of the attack said:

"While on routine patrol at 4:08 p.m. Aug. 2 Saigon time the U.S. destroyer Maddox underwent an unprovoked attack by three PT boats in the Gulf of Tonkin off Viet Nam. Attacking boats launched three torpedoes and used 37MM gunfire.

Used 5-Inchers

"The Maddox answered with 5-inch gunfire. Shortly thereafter four F8 (Crusader jet fighter) aircraft from the U.S.S. Ticonderoga joined in defense of Maddox using zuni rockets and 20MM strafing attacks. The PT boats were driven off with one seen to be badly damaged and not moving. The other two were damaged and retreating slowly. No casualties or damage was sustained by the Maddox or aircraft."

Rusk Warns Attacker Of 'Another Sting'

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Sunday night that the PT boats which attacked the U.S. Navy destroyer Maddox in the Tonkin Gulf were North Vietnamese.

"The other side got a sting out of this," Rusk told a reporter. "If they do it again, they'll get another sting."

He identified "the other side" as "the North Vietnamese."

Rusk said the United States is "going to insist upon using international water."

The secretary of state was questioned as he entered a reception at the Commodore Hotel, where he was to later address the 50th anniversary convention dinner of the American Field Service.

No War Orgies

In his prepared text he said that U. S. foreign policy seeks. "A worldwide victory for peace and Freedom" without a great war or "military orgy" in winning it.

Aides declined to label Rusk's remarks a reply to criticism by Republican presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater or to the GOP call for a "victory for freedom" foreign policy. But the speech dealt with subjects raised by critics.

Informally, the secretary of state's address—prepared for an American Field Service anniversary dinner—was portrayed as a reaffirmation of existing U.S. policy to assure foreigners of its steadfastness whatever they may near during the 1964 presidential campaign.

Without referring to Republican allegations, Rusk said: "No one has to convince us the contest between freedom and Communist imperialism is for keeps. For this struggle is our first order of business in the State Department. And it must never cease to be our first order of business until a worldwide victory for peace and for freedom has been secured.

Must Win

"Our purpose must be to win that victory without a great war, if possible. We will defend our vital interests, and those of the free world, by whatever means are required.

"But a military orgy is not a rational path to a decent world order of free men. No sane man could regard the incineration of most of the Northern Hemisphere as a triumph for freedom."

Hubert Humphrey

Hubert Confident Of LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey predicted Sunday that President Johnson will defeat Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in November because most Americans don't want a president "who has a nervous finger on the nuclear trigger."

Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat mentioned prominently as a possible vice-presidential running mate with Johnson, said some of Goldwater's statements on national security and atomic policy "are very disturbing."

Speaking on the CBS television program "Face the Nation,' Humphrey said using atomic weapons to defoliate trees "could actually mean the scorched earth of humanity."

Goldwater several months ago said "there have been several suggestions made" for cutting supply lines of Communist guerrillas into South Viet Nam. "I don't think we would use any of them," the Arizona senator added, "but defoliation of the forest by low-yield atomic weapons could well be done."

Goldwater later denied that he had been proposing that such action be taken.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said in Washington he had been briefed by State Department officials and the "PT boats appeared to be North Vietnemes." Humphrey made the remark on the Columbia Broadcasting System's program "Face the Nation."

He said the attack occurred in international waters and that "our Navy defended itself in an admirable, creditable manner."

Miller Blames Demos For City Race Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller, the GOP vice-presidential nominee, charged Sunday that Democratic political machines created conditions which led to violent racial clashes in Northern cities.

Miller called for more "moral persuasion and moral example" by President Johnson to halt further violence. He said the White House ought to indicate clearly it is "for the enforcement of law and order for all peoples and all groups" instead of being "half wishy-washy" in support of demonstrations.

Appearing on ABC's television-radio program "Issues and Answers," Miller said the Republican ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona favors "the right to demonstrate peacefully and the right to picket within the purview of the law."

Birch, Ku Klux Klan

During the course of his interview, Miller was asked by ABC news commentator Howard K. Smith:

"Why do you not specifically reject the support of the John Birch Society and the Ku Klux Klan?"

"Well, I think because primarily we are in accord generally with the posture of Former President Eisenhower on this issue," Miller said, adding:

"We don't believe in guilt by association, we don't believe in indictment by mass, in other words, we take a very liberal position on this. We believe that any individual has a right to be judged on his own philosophy, his own actions, his own posture and his own character and we simply don't believe in indicting people by groups."

"But I think there has to be more of a leadership in this country to indicate that the law applies to all, and that we do not condone nor subscribe to the violation of a law in order to redress a grievance," he said.

The New York congressman, a former GOP national chairman, said that almost all of the rioting had been "occurring in areas and in cities which have been under the control of entrenched Democratic political machines for years and years."

He said that, "By setting class against class and creed against creed, and appealing to the Negro vote and promising everything (and being) unable to deliver," these machines have created "the frustrations which exist in these large cities."

President Johnson gave approval last Thursday to a proposal by four civil rights organizations for a broad curtailment of civil rights demonstrations. The President said he "would not argue with anyone who chose to pursue a policy of vote registration in lieu of demonstration."

U. S. Air Attack Charged By Reds

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam charged Sunday that four U.S. fighter-bombers flew in from Laos and attacked a border post and a village with bombs and rockets.

It claimed a noontime attack Saturday wounded one villager and destroyed many homes and property.

A statement of protest from the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry accused the United States of a provocative act and said the neutralist faction in Laos "must bear the heavy responsibility" for allowing the United States to use Laotian territory to attack North Viet Nam.

Sent Planes

The United States has sent T28 fighter-bombers to the neutralist forces of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos in their struggle against the Communist Pathet Lao. The propeller-driven planes, piloted by Laotians, have been striking at the Red forces around the Plaine des Jarres in central Laos.

The North Vietnamese protest, carried in a broadcast by the North Viet Nam news agency, did not further describe the attacking planes other than to say they were U.S. fighter-bombers.

U.S. Navy jets have been flying reconnaissance missions in the central Laos area. The United States says they are unarmed.

In Washington, assistant White House press secretary Malcolm Kuldiff said there would be no immediate comment on the North Vietnamese protest.

It was the second North Vietnamese protest against the United States in two days. On Saturday, the Vietnamese protested what they called an attack by U.S. and South Vietnamese warships on North Vietnamese islands last Thursday.

Good Morning!

If a fellow is unhappy at home, he shoulde try and find out if it's because his wife is married to a grouch.

GOP Blasts Demos On Viet Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans pointed to Sunday's attack on a U.S. destroyer off North Viet Nam as support for their assertions that the administration isn't handling things well in that troubled part of the world.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican Senate leader and a frequent critic of U.S.policy in South Viet Nam, said the futile PT boat attack on the destroyer Maddox calls for "a new hard look" at the U.S. position in that area.

Both Republicans and Democrats applauded the Navy's prompt and apparently effective return fire against the unidentified PT boats. But among those commenting there was no demand for retaliatory offensive action against North Viet Nam.

A White House spokesman said President Johnson was advised promptly of the early-morning attack but there would be no comment at present. Nor was there any indication of whether or when a protest would be lodged against the apparent violation of the freedom of the high seas.

Summons Officials

Johnson summoned some top advisers to the White House, presumably to discuss the incident and its effect on U.S. policy. Among those unofficially reported attending were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Asst. Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance, and Gen. Earl G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said approvingly that the incident shows that if any foreign warships attack a U.S. warship in international waters "they can be certain of instant retaliation."

"Considering how long we have been operating in (South) Viet Nam, all the weaponry, equipment and manpower we have put in there and the failure to make any real progress," Dirksen told a reporter, "matters have come to the point where we are going to have to have a new hard look at what we are doing there."

Speaking along lines similar to Russell, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said, "The United States intends to uphold and enforce her rights on the open oceans."

Attack's Meaning

Pending further information there was little speculation as to the meaning of the attack but Kuchel said, "If this contemptible gunboat attack was something more than an isolated, undirected foray, then it constitutes a grave and serious development."

Grecian Is Named 'Miss Universe'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A black-eyed Grecian beauty who prayed every night to be Miss Universe carries the scepter of the most beautiful girl in the world.

Kiriaki Tsopei, 22, of Athens said Sunday the "crack in my heart I felt on being named a finalist is healed by victory. I wanted this for my country."

She is the first Miss Universe from southern Europe.

First runner-up was drama student Brenda Blackler of England. Ronit Rinat of Israel was second runner-up followed by tall Siv Marta Aberg of Sweden and gracious Lana Yi Yu, Miss Republic of China.

The tears shed Saturday night by Kiriaki were shared by others. Some felt happiness for the victor. Some felt hopelessness in losing, or seeing their favorites lose.

Miss Israel said, "Kiriaki and I are like sisters. She was my favorite. I am happier for her than I ever could have been for myself." Ronit will enter the Israeli army in October for 18 months of compulsory service.

Siv Aberg, an auburn-haired 5-foot-10 beauty, said Miss Greece was her favorite too. "I chose her myself to win."

Offstage, others wiped away tears. Said one: "I hope my country understands. I tried. I smiled. But there were so many pretty girls."

Kiriaki will have adjustments to make. The 5-foot-8 brunette will have to eat something other than potatoes to keep her 36-22-36 shape at 121 pounds. She says she doesn't like any American food but potatoes and desert, "especially cake and ice cream."

This lovely native of Sparta, who wants to be a fashion model, will spend a year traveling around the globe. She will learn English better, a language she says "I don't talk very well yet but want to."

There's no romance in her life "because I haven't found a man I can love." Her favorite man is her father, Georges Tsopei, a Greek army colonel.

Perhaps due to her background, Kiriaki is quite aware of world affairs and politics. She was outspoken on the Cyprus situation when she arrived here two weeks ago, but quiet when she learned Miss Turkey, Inci Duran, felt insulted.

NEWS BRIEFS

Police Rush Spider Serum

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—State police rushed precious black widow spider serum from Philadelphia to Lancaster Sunday night in an effort to save the life of a man believed bitten by the insect.

The victim, Clarence Cummings, 30, of nearby New Providence R. D. 1, was reported in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital, after receiving the serum.

Hospital authorities said Cummings was bitten by a spider, about the size of a dime, on his hand Saturday as he worked around his house.

He was treated and released Saturday, they said, but he returned Sunday afternoon after his hand and arm began to swell and he had abdominal pains. They said these were symptomatic of a black widow bite.

Protection For President Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allen W. Dulles said Sunday the assassination of President John F. Kennedy should lead Americans to demand that their presidents be fully protected from crowds.

Dulles, a member of the Warren Commission investigating Kennedy's killing in Dallas, said adequate protection of a president requires his being surrounded by Secret Service men and riding in armored cars when he makes public appearances.

Wordsworth Poem Found

OXFORD, England (AP) — A previously unknown poem attributed to William Wordsworth has come to light in the papers of an eminent English historian who died more than a century ago.

It is called "The Barberry Tree" and was discovered by an English research student, Peter Clark, while working on the papers of historian Henry Hallam at Christ Church College, Oxford. Hallam died in 1859 and many of his best-known manuscripts have since been kept at Oxford University.

The police had prepared themselves for trouble after beachfront battles between "Mods" and "Rockers," rival teen-age cults, in other resort towns during the three-day Pentecost holiday in May. Scores were fined or jailed then.

Collins Proclaims Race Reversal

WASHINGTON (AP) — LeRoy Collins, director of the Community Relations Service established by the new Civil Rights Act, conceded Sunday that he favored segregation eight years ago.

But since then, Collins said, "I've come to see and to understand that the nation's basic goal is to reach for a society that does not separate a class of its citizens for discriminatory consideration."

Jim Reeves Was Top Attraction

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — "Gentleman Jim" Reeves, 39, whose body was found in the wreckage of a private, single-engine plane near here Sunday, was one of the big names in the music-recording industry.

Blatt Says Goldwater Frightens Her

WARRINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Genevieve Blatt, sta secretary of internal affairs, says Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona "frightens and worries me" because he advocates what she termed a jingoistic nationalism as the Republican presidential candidate.

"I heard this type of talk before and it wasn't in America," Miss Blatt said Saturday in a speech before the Middle District Bucks County Democrats.

She also told the audience she would not discuss her apparent victory over Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno as the state Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate in the November election.

Light Plane Crashes In Bloomsburg Picnic Area

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A Piper Tri-Pacer airplane on a sight-seeing tour crashed on takeoff into a picnic area in the Bloomsburg town park Sunday.

The pilot and a passenger were killed and two other passengers injured.

There were several picnickers nearby but none in the immediate area of the crash. The plane hit about 15 feet outside the left field fence of a Little League ball diamond, where several youngsters were reportedly playing at the time.

The dead were identified as pilot Allen Weinblatt, of Bloomsburg, and Larry Cox, a passenger.

Admitted to the Bloomsburg Hospital in satisfactory condition were Clyde Bartholomew and John C. Stevens, both 34, and both of Orangeville R.D. 2.

Weinblatt and Cox were trapped in the burning wreckage. Authorities said their bodies were burned extensively.

Bartholomew suffered multiple contusions and abrasions and a possible fracture of the left ankle. Stevens suffered abrasions and contusions of the body, lacerations of the scalp and first, second and third degree burns of the left arm and face.

The plane had just taken off from the Bloomsburg airport and apparently was unable to gain altitude. The town park is about four blocks from the airport and lies along the Susquehanna River. The plane had taken off toward the southwest, along the river.

The site of the crash was an opening in the picnic area where there are no tables.

Bartholomew and Stevens somehow managed to get out of the wreckage.

Molotov Cocktails Hurled At Police By Erie Speeder

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Police apprehended a motorist near Erie Sunday after a running battle during which, police said, the motorist hurled "Molotov Cocktails" at them.

They identified the motorist as Samuel J. Hoke, 37, of Erie. He was shot in the leg and lower back during the exchange of gunfire.

Hoke was reported in good condition at Hamot Hospital in Erie.

Police finally cornered the auto at a service station in nearby Millcreek and rammed the vehicle with a patrol car. None of the officers was injured during the chase or apprehension.

Millcreek Police Chief Joseph Marshall gave this account:

Erie Patrolman Robert Brady saw a car parked at a closed service station in Erie about 4 a.m. and became suspicious.

When he went to question the motorist the motorist pulled a gun out of a small suitcase. Brady threw himself on the ground and the motorist's shot went over the officers head.

Brady fired at the fleeing car and shot out the back window.

The motorist then stopped at another service station in Erie and held it up for $101.13.

Meanwhile, Millcreek police were alerted about the shooting and Patrolmen Gary Dunsmore, 27, and Donald Vogt, 30, spotted the car and gave chase in their patrol car.

A high speed chase ensued during which the fleeing motorist fired several times at the police and on two occasions hurled the "Molotov Cocktals" at the officers.

Chief Marshal described the "Molotov Cocktails" as being gasoline-filled bottles that were ignited with a make-shift fuse. None of these bottles found a target.

Finally, the car was cornered at a service station where Dunsmore and Vogt rammed it with their patrol car. Their patrol car had been struck twice by bullets during the chase.

Two revolvers were confiscated from the Hoke car.

Call Made For Govt.-Private Park Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said Sunday demands for outdoor recreation "will eventually inundate public parks areas unless public and private agencies and individuals join in common effort."

Udall made his forecast in a directive to the director of the National Park Service dealing with park system management.

The directive establishes separate management principles for the National Park system's three difference types of areas—natural, historical, and recreational.

It also lists six long-range objectives for the conservation, management, and development of the system in the future.

The secretary said the park service cannot accomplish its long-range mission alone, nor solely within the boundaries of its own areas.

"National Park administrators must seek methods to achieve close cooperation with all land-managing agencies, considering broad regional needs, if lands for public outdoor recreation sufficient to the future needs of the nation are to be provided," he said.

Humphrey Is Top Demo VP Choice

By Louis Harris
The Harris Survey

When President Johnson eliminated Att. Gen. Robert Kennedy and other key members of his administration from consideration as Vice-Presidential candidates, he catapulted Sen. Hubert Humphrey into a commanding lead as the preferred choice of rank-and-file Democrats for second place on the ticket.

But in ruling out Kennedy, Adlai Stevenson, Robert McNamara and Sargent Shriver, Mr. Johnson also removed the first choices of fully 57 per cent of the Democrats.

While it is speculative as to just what factors influenced the President in this decision affecting his choice of a running mate, he undoubtedly weighed carefully the political advantages and habilities of a long list of potential eligibles.

Many of these no doubt involved Attorney General Kennedy, who, at the time of Mr. Johnson's decision to eliminate him, was the leading choice of rank-and-file Democrats.

In a poll of a cross-section of democratic voters taken just before Mr. Johnson's announcement, 35 per cent made Kennedy their first choice. However, he also led in the number of party voters who said they would bolt the Johnson ticket this November if the late President's brother were on it.

As many as 33 per cent of Southern Democrats reported they would take a walk if Kennedy were named. This contrasts with only 4 per cent in the South who said they would vote against Mr. Johnson with Senator Humphrey as his running mate.

Another key factor weighing in Humphrey's favor is the emerging pattern of the Johnson-Goldwater race in November. Regionally, Senator Goldwater has now moved into a lead in the South, with President Johnson ahead almost 3 to 1 in the East and more than 2 to 1 in the West.

The Midwest now appears to be a crucial battleground, with the vote there now running the same as in the country as a whole: 64-36 per cent in favor of the President. If Goldwater is to make headway in this election, he must improve his position in the Middle West. Coming from Minnesota, Senator Humphrey's chances thus may well have been enhanced.

With members of President Johnson's official family removed from the Vice-Presidential race, here is how possible candidates now line up among rank-and-file Democrats.

DEMOCRATS' CURRENT CHOICE FOR VICE PRESIDENT

	PER CENT
Senator Humphrey	54
Governor Brown	10
Mayor Wagner	10
Senator Ribicoff	10
Senator Symington	10
Senator McCarthy	6

Most of the new Humphrey majority, however, is made up of second-choice votes he received when President Johnson knocked out four of his principal competitors last Thursday.

It is apparent that support for Senator Humphrey was rising as the President made his decision. Attorney General Kennedy still held a substantial lead, but his backing appeared to be ebbing.

The attorney general provoked pockets of opposition among Protestants, Jews, residents of rural areas and southerners, although he was the clear first choice of a majority of Catholics and voters in the East.

Orchestra To Use Fiber Glass Shell

SHAWNEE — When the Philadelphia Orchestra and Eugene Ormandy appear at Shawnee Inn on August 11 and 12 they will be performing in the finest acoustical shell available.

The Pocono Art Center, sponsor of the concerts, has obtained a special flame resistant fiber glass shell thirty-five feet deep and sixty feet wide to house the 105-member orchestra.

Last season the New York Philharmonic, under the baton of Leonard Bernstein, presented a special concert in Monterey, Calif., using the same shell before an audience of 10,000.

Bernstein had checked the acoustics of the shell and insisted that it be flown from the East Coast to California for the special concert.

The shell was also used last year for a special concert by the National Youth Orchestra on the White House lawn.

Color of the shell is two-tone Gothic gray molded into the classical columnar surfaces of each four foot segment.

The musically engineered poly-cylindrical segments combine to provide an acoustically true mixing chamber for ideal sound dispersion, reflection balance and projection.

The special stage braces behind the shell are designed to withstand wind loads up to 70 miles per hour.

The Philadelphia Orchestra will offer two different programs during its participation in the Pocono Music Festival. The first on Tuesday evening, August 11, will feature works by Beethoven, Brahms and Strauss. Wednesday, August 12, the composers represented will be Kabalevsky, Prokofierff and Tchaikovsky.

Complete information regarding the concerts may be obtained from the Pocono Art Center, Shawnee, Pa.

Show's president and Rocco Drago is business manager. Evan Hughes and Ronald Valetta are co-chairmen of the clambake.

HOW TO STEP UP TO TOMORROW'S JOBS

Jobs will be plentiful in the future. But they'll be different—they'll demand new abilities and skills. The job you have today may not earn a good living for you tomorrow.

You won't get tomorrow's jobs with yesterday's skills

What you can do is step up to a new skill—by re-training. It means work, sure. But it also means you'll be qualifying yourself for one of the newer opportunities—perhaps with your present company. A better-paying job, too.

Take the first step in the right direction this week. Talk to the local office of your state employment service about re-training.

Reaching For The Moon

There weren't any green men eating green cheese, but the discovery by Ranger 7 television cameras of craters on the moon only three feet wide was just as exciting to the layman and certainly more interesting to the scientist.

The amazing success of our efforts to photograph the moon at close range was made more dramatic and more human by the fact that this was the seventh attempt by the United States.

Six other Ranger moonshots failed. With $260 million invested in the program since August, 1961, and $28 million in Ranger 7 alone, the voyage had to succeed or the whole $20 billion space program would have been in jeopardy.

Frustration and heartbreak and firm pursuit of a national goal were finally rewarded by the amazing success of a precise scientific experiment.

While this success and the dramatic world-wide publicity it has gained will quiet some of the Congressional and public criticism of the nation's huge man on the moon program, it should not drown out those constructive critics who urge a slower, more careful and more efficient assault on the mysteries of space.

We should work to put a man on the moon, to explore Mars and Venus and other planets. But there is no practical reason why we have to be on the moon by 1970 exactly.

We would like to beat the Russians to the moon, but it is not essential if we have the technical ability to get there eventually.

We must continue our moon and space exploration, not simply because we want to beat the Russians, or win world-wide prestige, but because it is the foremost challenge of our space age.

We must put a man on the moon because it is there.

Cutting Bobby Kennedy

President Lyndon B. Johnson's surprising and clumsy handling of the sticky problem of running with or without Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy has seriously reduced his choice of good vice presidential running mates.

Using a shotgun instead of a pistol, he killed off Dean Rusk, secretary of state; Robert McNamara, secretary of defense; Orville Freeman, secretary of agriculture; Sargent Shriver, Peace Corps director; Adlai Stevenson, UN ambassador; and the assassinated president's brother.

It is generally assumed that Presidetn Johnson's target was Robert Kennedy.

No president has ever arbitrarily ruled out cabinet members as possible vice presidential choices. In fact, many have come from the cabinet. It is a good proving ground, especially when the President has had a chance to work with cabinet members for some time.

This makes it difficult to explain the President's action unless his no-cabinet member decision was simply a device to cut Robert Kennedy from the list without a direct attack on him.

We can understand President Johnson's reluctance to run on a ticket with the late President's brother. He understandably wants to run his own show, free from the Kennedy magic and influence.

But we cannot understand his readiness to rule out some of the men we consider the best vice presidential candidates available to him.

Both Secretary McNamara and Sargent Shriver would make strong vice presidents. Both could take over the office of President as well as or better than any other man the President is now free to choose.

Why the President cut them out while cutting Robert Kennedy from the list remains a mystery.

Comment Of The Day

"If you mean, are there any little green men, the answer is no."

Walter Lippmann

Treating Riot Causes

By Walter Lippmann

WASHINGTON — The raw edge of the Negro riots in Harlem and in other northern cities is that the recognized Negro leaders lost control of the mobs.

For some time, close observers of the mounting Negro protest have been watching apprehensively for this development.

They have feared the dread moment when young Negroes, unemployed or badly employed, uneducated and desperate, would break away from the preaching of nonviolence and go on a rampage of hatred and destruction.

This breaking loose from the recognized leaders is a critical and ominous event, and civil peace in this country depends on whether the breach between the young Negroes and the older veteran leaders can be healed.

It is essential to begin by realizing clearly the basic difference between the American Negro protest and almost all African movements abroad. It is that the American Negroes are not agitating for a new social order, but for admission to the social order which now exists.

This could change. If the established Negro leadership is pushed aside and the desperate young crowds fear nothing because they have nothing to lose, the Negro movement could become the prey of guerrilla agitators.

With this in mind, we must choose between the two courses of action which are now open to use.

One is to stamp out the disorders when they appear, using the local police and if necessary the national guard and the federal army; the rest of the problem is to be left to the states.

The other course is to stamp on the disorders wherever they break out and at the same time to try at all levels of government to redress the grievances which are the causes of the disorders.

The first course is that of the Republican Party since it was taken over in San Francisco.

As a national party it is, like all the rest of us, opposed to Negro disorders, and it is in favor of the use of police forces at all levels of government to stamp out these disorders.

But as a national party it is no longer interested in the redress of the grievances at the national level and — considering Gov. George Wallace — at no level.

Leaving out all considerations of liberty and justice as they apply to Negroes, the Goldwater policy opens up the prospect of endless disorder.

For taking Sen. Barry Goldwater's vote on the civil rights act, the Republican platform and the alliance with the southern racists, we have a case of pushing on the safety valve and tying it down.

To stop the protests and to shut off real hope of redressing the grievances is a recipe for disorder.

If the legitimate grievances of the Negroes cannot be dealt with by open and non-violent demonstrations and propaganda, a condition will be created for clandestine and violent criminality.

The alternative course is to police the disorders and to redress the grievances. The rioting is intolerable and cannot be tolerated. But for an increasing number of Negroes their grievances are intolerable and will not be endured very much longer.

The essential point is to prove to the large mass of peaceable Negroes that there is light at the end of the tunnel, that the same public authority which enforces law and order is also committed to reform.

This is the way to restore the broken communications between the recognized non-revolutionary and nonviolent Negro leaders and the minorities of desperate young men.

The Negro community must be enabled to believe that the public authorities are their hope and not their enemy. In this most concrete sense, civil peace in the United States depends on the cooperation of the Negro community.

The Pennsylvania Story

Senate Race Ho-Hum

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — It isn't easy to run for U.S. Senator.

Or, as some of the more affluent might say: it isn't easy to run for any office!

Granted the latter is somewhat of a truism, the fact remains the job of running for a U.S. Senate post is a tough one; more so than most people realize — and not without good reason.

With a U.S. senatorial post up for plucking this year in Pennsylvania, the chore ahead for the aspirants to the Washington leather seat from an interesque standpoint at least, is worth some note.

It's quite a bit different from running for other major statewide posts such as Governor, Lieutenant - Governor, State Supreme Court, etc. — In each instance the post is held in Pennsylvania; each post has a "local flavor;" each post has its close-to-home appeal.

Gubernatorial candidates can relate to awed audiences how, for example, when they're elected chief executive they'll fight for a thirty - five lane highway through Flubbersville (pop. 201); the Lieutenant - Governor hopefuls can relate how when they're elected, and by virtue of their office become presiding officer of the State Senate, how they'll make certain that when the Flubbersville Civic League comes to (nearby Harrisburg, they'll make certain the gents in the upper house give them a standing ovation.

The candidate for the State Supreme Court post can promise the good folks of Flubbersville (pop. 200 — we lost one in the last census) that by golly when he's on the top bench post, he'll most certainly "listen" (he can at least listen) to the Flubbersville complaint about loose moose coming in from the woods and eating all the cabbage in local cabbage patches — and should not the Game Commission be responsible for damages, etc.

But what cabbage patches does the U.S. senatorial candidate have to talk about to arouse local interest? It's pretty tough unquestionably, unless a new federal dam is in the works for Flubbersville, but these dams are few and far between.

Local stuff such as this always seems to have a fantastic attraction — it's always much more interesting to the folks in Flubbersville to read or hear about the two Smith brothers in Flubbersville who fought a bitter duel at the village pump with water pistols— than the two Smith brothers down in Australia who managed the same feat.

This then (in a somewhat exaggerated sense for emphasis) is the same thing Pennsylvania's two candidates for U.S. Senator are up against.

When they take office they'll be "way down" in Washington representating a district that comprises the whole state (as compared to other Washingtonians, our 27 congressmen for example, who represent 27 local districts in the state) concerned with such "general" matters as federal subsidy to Portugal for its prunes; the debilitating and Flubbersville-shattering question of whether a dam should be built in Antartica; or whether bomb blasts should be confined to Moscow or Miami Beach (neither of which are really near Flubbersville).

Now who in Flubbersville — outside of the village greenskeeper, of course — cares a particular hoot about those bone - rattling issues? But what else is there for a U.S. senatorial candidate to talk about?

He can of course discourse in general terms about solution to the unemployment problem in the Keystone State, for example, but the general reaction there is one of: "What does that guy know about our troubles, and even so, what can he alone do down there in Washington — one of a pile of senators?"

Well, it isn't quite as brushy-off as that; a Senator as an individual does carry considerable weight for his state's issues and of course his individual vote is influential and oftimes critical in overall issues that ultimately and eventually effect the good folks of Flubbersville (pop. 198 — two expired waiting for the end of this).

Next time you see the senatorial hopefuls, think for a minute — and remember that the dam in Antartic—a really can be important to Flubbersville!

Lighter Side Of Law

Dr. David B. Shulman, the man who puts hickory in the hams, is a good friend of J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

In fact, the Little Kunkletown resident and businessman, would lay down his life for the country's top law enforcement officer. They are that close these two individuals from two different walks of life.

It has been that way for a long time between Hooyer and Dr. Shulman, and naturally they correspond frequently to show each has a lighter side.

The most recent was a short missive from the FBI's chief to the Stroudsburg suburban doctor who forced Oscar of The Waldorf to prepare his food different.

In the envelope was a humorous story. It was printed on a FBI brochure and was titled, "East Side, West Side, All Around the Town."

Here's the way it read:

"The policeman heard the car approaching at racing speed. Fastening his goggles on more securely and taking a firm hold on the handle bars of his motorcycle, he took off after the speeding car on the streets of New York.

The officer told the police magistrate he followed the man from Eighth Ave., through 110th St., and down the west drive of Central Park where he took a spill on muddy ground, completely ruining his uniform.

"The erring motorist admitted he was going fast but denied he was traveling anywhere near 18 miles per hour. He was fined $10, which he reluctantly paid — July 31, 1905."

In their separate ways, Hoover and Dr. Shulman are busy as the proverbial bees. Each, however, always seem to find the time to lend a little cheer to the other's life.

That's how it has been for a time for too short for the local doctor of good mood. The only difference is that "Doc" chases turkeys and J. Edgar Hoover hounds criminals.

About Town

—By Gene Brown

The publication of "GOLFERS GOLD: An Inside View of the Pro Tour," by Tony Lema gives this column the chance to double - think about the world of the Touring Pros and their place in our socio-economic system.

Today's touring pro and his artificial place in our dubious esteem is the product of the sporting goods makers, TV producers and publicity-seeking institutions.

This kind of a pro seldom takes much of an interest in the civic life of the community or the nation; his activities are rigidly restricted to hitting a highly sensitive white ball fewer times than his competitor which leaves him little time to be a man but much time to be a money-snatching machine.

He seldom knows or associates with anyone else but fellow - pros and when he wins he gets millions of dollars of free newspaper and air-exposure, all of which glorify a citizen whose sole aim is to cash in on the duffers' hope that by some miracle they can swing as he swings.

A whole cult of pro-worshippers has grown up in this land and most of them devote their whole free life to the hope that some day they'll shoot an 84.

We think that the tourney pros are over - exalted and under - mannered and that they should return to the task of making an honest living — by the way, I wonder how you break 84?

The Allen-Scott Report

Foreign Aid Cut

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — The — The doughty fight in the Senate to steeply slash President Johnson's $3.5 billion foreign aid budget is seemingly doomed to failure, but it is performing one extremely useful service.

It is making crystal clear that this huge budget is only about half of the amount actually being spent on foreign aid.

The real total is more than $7 billion.

Under various titles, designations and agencies, Congress already has voted the other $3.5 billion.

The little-known fact that actual foreign aid spending is in excess of $7 billion was admitted by Foreign Aid Administrator David Bell under questioning at a closed-door meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He made this highly significant admission in response to a question by Senator Stuart Symington, D-Mo. This was disclosed on the Senate floor by Senator Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, who with Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has been spearheading the determined effort to drastically prune the President's $3.5 billion budget.

Following is this revealing testimony:

"Senator Symington: You present a figure of $3.5 billion. I turn that over to someone trying to be objective and say, 'Give me what the true foreign aid figure is.' He then gives me a figure of some 47 billion as the actual amount of foreign aid we are going to give or loan this year. Is that figure correct?"

"Bell: Somewhere around that, yes, sir."

Caustically commented Gruening, who has been futilely battling to induce the Small Business Administration to grant ¾ of one per cent loans to hard-hit Alaska businessmen and other earthquake sufferers, "We have heard much about this being a 'bare-bone' foreign aid budget. That is not quite correct. It now develops that foreign aid spending for fiscal 1965 is to be in the neighborhood of $7 billion and not $3.5 billion."

The Foreign Aid Administration and other agencies in that field have granted hundreds of millions in loans to foreign countries and businessmen at ¾ of one per cent interest. But earthquake-stricken American citizens in Alaska are being required to pay 3 per cent interest.

Where The Money's Going — A detailed compilation of the more than $7 billion the Johnson administration has budgeted for foreign aid is recorded in a little-noticed minority report by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

This highly enlightening summation is as follows:

Foreign Assistance Act:
(Economic Assistance)	$2,461,760,000
(Military Assistance)	$1,065,000,000
Peace Corps	115,000,000
Food for peace	2,215,000,000
Inter-American Development Bank:
(Social Progress Trust Fund)	750,000,000
(Callable capital stock)	412,000,000
International Development Association	373,656,000
Tax credit	60,000,000
Total	$7,442,356,000

Signing this scathing report were Republican committeeman E. Ross Adair, Ind.; H. R. Gross, Iowa; E. Y. Berry, S. Dak.; Edward Derwinski, Ill.; James Battin, Mont., and Vernon Thomson, Wis.

They emphatically contended that "our generous, well-intentioned but misguided assistance activities (have) accomplished nothing — and events of the last few months prove that."

"NATO appears on the verge of complete disintegration," continued the group. "France, a major recipient of U.S. aid, has apparently withdrawn its support while retaining its voice. We have been unable to obtain the cooperation of our European allies to reduce their trade with Cuba in strategic materials.

"The political settlement in Laos has predictably worked to the advantage of the Communists. The $330 million poured into that country has done nothing more than identify the U.S. with a losing battle. After ten years and $370 million in aid, Cambodia has asked us to pick up our marbles and go home.

"Indonesia with $870 million of our money continues to threaten freedom-seeking Malaysia. And a few months ago, Sukarno announced, 'To hell with U.S. aid.' Yet we continue to give him aid. In fiscal 1965, $10 million is planned for technical cooperation. Our allies in Turkey and Greece are at each other's throat over Cyprus."

Senator Morse, who last year succeeded in lopping $500 million from the foreign aid budget, was equally scathing.

"The foreign aid program has become one of the most stagnant, unproductive and misrepresented of all federal activities," he declared. "It is stagnant because its objectives are still tied largely to American strategic interests of the 1950s; it is unproductive because much of it goes for uses that neither build nor develop; and it is misrepresented because in spite of all the official hand-wringing pleas that we help the underprivileged and deprived peoples of the world, not more than 40 per cent of it goes for that purpose."

Dear Abby

Be Prepared

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am sick and tired of having my parents on my back all the time. I would like to know when I can leave home.

HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: Moreover, your parents have probably "had it," too. If you are able to pay for your own lodging, food, transportation, doctor and dental bills, insurance and entertainment, and bail yourself out of trouble of any kind —then you may leave home. (But take a key to the back door when you go.)

DEAR ABBY: My problem is between my husband and me over a dog we don't even have yet. We've been married for two years and we have no children. We both work five days a week. I leave for work at 7 A.M. and he leaves at 7:30. We both get back about 4:30 P.M. All of a sudden my husband decides he wants a puppy. I say he's crazy. Who is going to take care of it? Believe me, I am not going to. Our furniture is brand new and I've seen what a puppy can do to things. Besides, it will tie us down and we like to go away for week-ends occasionally. He says, "We'll manage." Can you help me?

MRS. K. A.

DEAR MRS. K. A. You seem to have all the answers, and they sound sensible to me. Personally, I pity the poor pooch that's brought into a home where he is unwanted by half the household, and left alone all day. (Who will feed him and walk him?) Don't give an inch. If your husband wins this one, it shouldn't happen to a dog.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents who tell their children that ours are adopted? We had not intended to tell our son that he was adopted until he was ten years old, and able to understand, but the parents of other children have told their children, and, of course, they went ahead and told ours. These people are relatives or we would never speak to them again. Please print this so other parents won't be hurt the way we were.

CRUSHED

DEAR CRUSHED: I am not defending the parents who thoughtlessly told their children that yours were adopted. But adopted children should be told that they are adopted as soon as they are able to understand what the word means. (Ten is too late).

DEAR ABBY: What is the proper way to address a wedding invitation to a man and woman who are living together but are not married? Each is using his own last name.

GETTING MARRIED

DEAR GETTING: Anyone so disdainful of holy matrimony could hardly be a wedding fan. But if you must invite them, send each an invitation at his only known address.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Impetigo Is Very Contagious

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Impetigo is called "impetigo contagiosa" because it is transmitted with "forest fire" speed from one young child to another.

Adults, too, can be—although less frequently—infected after exposure by direct contact.

In schools, camps, nurseries and hospital wards, strict hygienic precautions and isolation are imperative if the "ground fire" is to be stamped out at its source.

Impetigo is one of a group of skin conditions that can be diagnosed very easily and treatment for it is begun quickly.

Cleanse With Soap

When the first sign of the characteristic pustule appears, it should be cleansed with a bactericidal soap to help prevent the infection from spreading to other parts of the body. (Tincture of green soap is also very effective for this purpose.)

The crusts that form should be gently removed with wet, warm compresses of mild salt water. Half a teaspoonful of household salt in a pint of warm water is sufficient.

Antibiotics Helpful

Antibiotic ointments have been exceedingly effective in controlling the spread and reducing the severity of this condition. A recent study at Harvard University indicated that healing can be even more rapid when antibiotics are also taken by mouth.

Impetigo is a highly personalized skin infection. Careful and considerate protection of other members of the family is just as important as the treatment to clear up the condition in the patient inflicted with the infection. Rigid cleanliness in the use of family towels and utensils is the key to avoiding contamination of others.

Space Age Medicine

Space age medicine and nuclear medicine are no longer the imaginative tales of science fiction.

Atomic scientists are vital contributors to the ordinary, everyday, earthbound practice of medicine.

Radioactive phosphorus, the first isotope product of nuclear science, was timidly used about 25 years ago.

Since then, radioactive iodine has been successfully and safely used in over one million studies of the thyroid gland alone.

Aids Diagnosis

Medical diagnosis of many conditions has been tremendously benefited and simplified by the use of isotopes as "tracers."

These tracers enter into the tiny crevices of the brain, the heart, the lungs and other organs. Through geiger counters, they transmit valuable information for the clarification of difficult diagnostic problems.

Bombard Tumors

Now isotopes are also being used extensively for the treatment of certain tumors. Brain tumors and breast tumors are bombarded with radioactive substances. Encouraging results have been obtained with this new technique.

Nuclear medicine has opened brand-new horizons which we have only begun to probe. Its untapped potential holds great promise for improving and protecting the health and destiny of man.

These columns are designed to relieve your fears about health through a better understanding of your mind and body. All the hopeful new advances in medicine reported here are known to doctors everywhere.

Stories Behind Words

Scot-Free

Theer are some expressions in which a national name has a derogatory meaning.

The expression "scot-free," however, has no connection with a native or resident of Scotland.

During the Middle Ages in England a man might, for some reason — perhaps meritorious military service — be exempt from a tax. A tax was called "scot," from the Old French "escot."

Any person exempt from a tax was described as "scot-free." The term acquired the meaning of escaping payment of a penalty or punishment.

Car Knocks Down 17 Posts But Woman, Children Live

STROUDSBURG—Area police investigated four accidents over the weekend in which six persons suffered minor injuries.

An East Stroudsburg woman and her three children miraculously escaped serious injury when the car in which they were riding slid across the top of 204 feet of iron guard rail, and knocked over 17 rail posts near the Interstate Rt. 80 bridge about a quarter of a mile east of the Broad St. exit Saturday at 8:23 a.m.

The convertible did not go over a steep embankment.

The mother, Mrs. Patricia A. Besecker, 23, of East Stroudsburg, RD 3, operator of the car, suffered cuts on the face. Her two-year-old daughter, Sherri, had a bump on the head. Both were released from the General Hospital of Monroe County after treatment.

Three-month-old Michelle Besecker and Lisa, 3½, were not injured.

The car is estimated a total loss. She will be charged with reckless driving, police said.

Red Cross Bloodmobile To Visit CLU Thursday

EAST STROUDSBURG — Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Central Labor Union (CLU) Club, 265 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., according to Irv Goldberg, agency public relations director.

Goldberg said that blood donation is very simple. The donor answers a few questions, has pulse, temperature and blood pressure tested, and finger touched for a test drop of blood.

The donor then lies down, Goldberg continued, and has procaine, an anesthetic, placed on his arm. Then the blood is withdrawn — painlessly, he stressed. "In five minutes or so the whole thing is over," he said.

In general, Goldberg explained, anyone between 21 and 59 who is in good health and weighs 110 pounds or more may donate blood. There are no ill effects, he added.

Donated blood keeps for 21 days, Goldberg continued. The Red Cross donates the blood to doctors and hospitals, he explained, and the only charge to the patient is that made by the hospital for testing and administration. The Red Cross receives no money whatever for the blood, although hospitals may pay $2.50 a pint for handling, he emphasized.

Anyone who gives blood once a year receives "blood coverage" from the Red Cross, Goldberg said, and will receive free blood for himslef and members of his immediate family at any hospital, even outside Monroe County.

May Specify Patient

In addition, he said, donors may give blood here for the benefit of specific individuals in any part of the country where the Red Cross maintains an exchange program.

Goldberg concluded by saying that giving blood is one way to save a life — and the only way in which the donor does not risk his own.

Stiff-Lambert Wedding At Mount Pocono Methodist

Mount Pocono — The marriage of Miss Delores Marie Lambert to Ronald Drehl Stiff both of Tobyhanna, was held July 25 at 7 p.m. at the Mount Pocono Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Lambert of Bud, W. Va. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman P. Stiff of Tobyhanna.

Rev. Wesley Meixell performed the candlelight ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of yellow and white gladiolas. Satin bows marked the pews.

Escorted to the altar by her uncle, Jerry Hickok, the bride was given in marriage by her mother.

She wore a ballerina length gown of lace over taffeta with a scalloped neckline, pleated front panel, long pointed sleeves and a bouffant bow in back. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible, the gift of the bridegroom, with an orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Gaye Hickok of Tobyhanna was matron of honor. She wore a street length sheath of lime green chiffon over taffeta with a bouffant overskirt, a scoop neckline and three-quarter sleeves. She wore matching accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of carnations and ivy.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Virginia Miller, Mount Pocono and Mrs. Lydiann Miller, Tobyhanna wore similar gowns in pastel yellow.

Cynthia Hickok, cousin of the bride, and Lori Stiff and Debbie DelDonno, nieces of the bridegroom were flower girls. They wore pastel yellow chiffon with lime sashes, white flowered headpieces and carried miniature bouquets like those of the other attendants.

Raymond Serfass Jr. of Snydersville was best man. Ushers were Cloyd Miller and Bruce Knecht, Tobyhanna.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue dress of crushed rayon with white accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy and lavendar dress of nylon and rayon with a pleated skirt, white accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception for 200 guests was held at the Pocono Summit firehall which was decorated with white, green and yellow streamers and wedding bells. The bride's table was set with a white cloth, candles and a centerpiece of carnations.

Leaving for a weding trip to West Virginia and New Jersey, the bride wore a beige and brown suit of linen with matching accessories and the corsage from her Bible.

They are now making their home on Long Pond Road, Pocono.

A 1963 graduate of the Herndon High School, Herndon, W. Va., the bride is employed at the Mount Pocono Diner. Her husband attended Coolbaugh Twp. High School and is employed by H. John Davis Fuel Co., Mount Pocono.

Mid-Summer Madness Hits World Clothes Designers

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Although Paris has only begun to have its say, this promises to be the zaniest fashion year since eve acquired that fig leaf original.

Choose your own plunge necklines, muzzle shirts, mask hats, invisible bras, sequined socks, color it yourself dresses, half-beatle half-girl airdos — and even half-bald ones — are just a few of the waggish what to wear ideas on the fashion scene thus far.

Specifically:

The woman - silencer shirt from Italy features a turtleneck that wraps conveniently across the lady's mouth. And a Yankee hat covers her eyes like a bandit's.

Jacques Esteral shocked Paris at his couture opening with a model whose head was partly shaved. In London, hair stylist Vidal Sassoon tagged his latest —a short Beatle bang bob on one side with long hair on the other — as the lopsided locks coiffure.

Taking The Plunge

The triple plunge neckline in a cotton sheath has three sets of dotted lines for cuting; one is dubbed the "deb" dip; another the "society" scoop; a third, the snip to the waist, is tagged "downfall."

The invisible bra , marketed chiefly for topless bathing suit wearers, is packaged with fake daisies to be pinned or pasted on strategic spots by the not-so-brave.

Drawn-on bosoms are Italy's droll approach to the current topless madness. The whimsical artistry decorates T-shirts. Breast pockets are also the Italians' asset for the now-popular see-through blouse.

Mink Knickers?

Mink knickers are fur designer John F. Morris' contribution to levity. But sable and fox coats that unravel their pelts to become jackets and boleros are more practical than witty because the pieces can be snapped whole again.

Jewels for feet, with copper, topaz and rubies bracleting ankles and attaching to rings on toes, are a piquancy Paris promises. An American cosmetics manufacturer is promoting pink and silver paint for outlining the outer edges of ears like African warriors.

In Paris, Chanel Shows Pants, Capes, And Bows

By LOUISE HICKMAN
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Chanel showed pants and capes Wednesday. Also, she moved the bow.

There were quite a few women editors wearing the big, black Chanel bow on the nape, as she showed it last season, when they discovered that this season it goes on top of the head. The short coiffure still has deep bangs, is brushed back of the ears, and slightly puffed on the crown, in back of the bow.

Pants

Everyone was waiting for the Chanel pants. She made it very clear that they were not to be worn to work. They were elegant. They were in flannel with gold-shot matelasse tops, or all golf-shot matelasse brocade costumes worn under long, floaty, open coats of chiffon or parachute silk.

The Chanel pants are wide. They sit straight on the hips, have a flat sailor-style panel across the front that makes pockets at the sides, are sometimes buttoned—a button at each side and one dead center. The pants legs are wide and tubular.

The traditional beige Chanel sling-back pump with contrast tip in black or gold is worn with everything — even pants. It has an unadorned squarish throat this season.

Shown with heeled shoes, the Chanel pants were more or less instep length. So were billowy-skirted, ribbon-sashed evening gowns.

Capes

Capes from Chanel should revive a fashion that met a lot of enthusiasm several winters ago, but never really got rolling. That is, if women don't decide they like her new coats better.

Capes or coats are slim and worn open. The coats have a normal, round neckline, sometimes finished with a band so tiny it can hardly be called a collar. The neckline just falls open in what is best described as collarless rever points.

The Chanel hat for now is a crown-like Anna Karenina pillbox. One had a bright rose tucked over the ear.

There were some frills. Clipped, stiff, shiny feathers were used for ribbon-tied ruffs and hats. Ruffles or ruching bordered several suits and blouses. There were bias organza ruffles completely outlining the left-to-right diagonal wraps of dresses in quilt-plaided black silk or cherry cloque.

Questions And Answers For Public Pulse-Takers

By Roberta Roesch

"HOW do you get a job as a public opinion interviewer?" writes a New York reader. "Exactly what do you do?"

To answer one question at a time, the woman who wants to do interviewing for public opinion firms usually gets available jobs by.

(1) Watching for newspaper advertisements seeking "Interviewers."

List Of Names

(2) Going through classified telephone directories of major cities to list names and addresses of public opinion analysts and research firms and writing for jobs.

The qualifications for the work, according to Elmo Roper and Associates, one of the major marketing and public opinion research firms, are: (1) an average education (2) an intelligent approach to people (3) a pleasing manner (4) the necessary resourcefulness and aggressiveness to overcome obstacles when people don't want to talk to you (5) an interest in detail and (6) a strong appreciation of the fact that a good interviewer is as necessary to a successful research project as a typewriter ribbon is to a typewriter.

Ready To Be Trained

Once you land a job in the field, you'll usually be trained regional field supervisors who spend some initial time with you. After that, you'll be in a position to talk to your supervisor or home office by telephone whenever special problems come up. You'll probably be checked by the firms for which you work — periodically and unexpectedly —since interviewers who don't do good jobs throw off an entire project.

When you're working at an interview job (and often the work is sporadic with occasionally inconvenient hours), you'll normally be on your own, except for the rare times when crews work together intensively for a week or so on a special project. Because you work alone so much and because interviewing itself involves just a fragment of a whole public opinion program, some women get discouraged by feeling isolated and not sufficiently involved with the enterprise as a whole.

But this is by no means always the case, according to one woman who works for Elmo Roper and Associates.

Wasn't So Sure

"When I first started interviewing," she said, "I wasn't sure I liked wandering about. But then it got so I couldn't wait for another job.

"Interviewing," she goes on, "gives women a chance to get out into the world, meet different kinds of people and learn about new subjects. It's a great ego builder for a lot of women whose work has been bounded by baby formulas and the PTA.

Reluctant Interviewee Poses A Problem For The Interviewer.

"Besides, every woman loves to get out and look at other women's homes!"

Cy Barrett Says

Office Imposter

DEAR CY:

A Mr. Langton has dignified our offices and is a complete impostor. He talks rings around anyone on any subject, providing he can quit after 15 seconds and can avoid questions (which he always does). Mr. Langton is exceedingly dapper and has already been to the boss' house for dinner. When in the office, he spends time buzzing around me for information. I can tell Langton is a phony. Should I expose the fraud?

SCHNABLE

DEAR SCHNABLE:

Hollywood recalls a "writer" who posed as an Englishman and "the successor to Noel Coward." From a $65 per week job with an oil company, he grabbed $1,500 per week as a screen writer. The bluff lasted a year, during which time he wrote nothing. Elfried Schmidt, in an effort to save friends and relatives, outwitted and outbrassed the Gestapo in Germany by posing as an inventor who held the personal affection of Hitler.

Ferdinand Demara Jr. acted as a surgeon in the Royal Canadian navy and actually performed necessary surgery at sea until discovery several years ago. Ivar Kreuger fooled the world out of more millions in money than matches, his monopoly. F. Donald Coster swindled 8 million dollars in the guise of a dignified and honest businessman.

And who knows what frauds, ruses or deceptions may be further connected with recent stock manipulations now being judged in the courts? Don't make the mistake of trying to expose Langton's genius too soon. As with the causes above until the guilt flakes through wear or through evidence, those who want to believe in fakes will insist on it.

CY

DEAR CY:

Your column on being a golf professional at a course or club has me swinging. I love the game, but don't play it well enough to compete with the pros on tour. The business and teaching side of the game intrigues me and I would like more facts.

B. SWINGER

DEAR MR. SWINGER:

The Professional Golfers' Association of America publishes an excellent booklet entitled, "Golf and the PGA Professional." I'll see that you get one free. (Any other readers have only to write me for their free copy.) Should you decide to join the ranks of over 5,000 professional in the PGA, contact Robert L. Russell, assistant executive director of the organization. But first read up on your career as a pro. It's the shortest distance between the tee and the pro-shop.

CY

DEAR CY:

I saved your article on Khrushchev's son visiting a Brooklyn butterfly wholesaler to build up his collection. In it you also mention how mounting butter*flies can be a profitable hob*by. Has anyone ever used butterflies commercially in any way besides wall decorations or glass ash trays?

D-D

DEAR D-D:

Butterflies are adaptable to a tremendous number of interior decorations, including movable screen and room dividers. Two young innovators in Phoenix are putting butterflies in lights. Robert L. Koble and Edward Johnson started Skyline Manufacturing corporation in 1962, and begun laminating butterflies in luminous lighting fixtures measuring from 2 by 2 feet to 2 by 8 feet.

Today the partners employ over 20 people and 20,000 of their units are being installed in Del E. Webb's retirement towns.

Washington Report

Negroes Wary Of Police: Reason For Race Riots?

By Richard Spong

Back of the rioting in the big cities is at least one shameful root cause that has little to do directly with racial attitudes. Although the Negro spokesmen in Harlem and Rochester decry "police brutality," and demand that white police be replaced by colored police, the truth is that most Negroes distrust and dislike all police, white or black. And they are not alone in this.

The old-time policeman, the man on the beat, was in excellent position to nip trouble before it got out of hand. Many times a policeman took a kid by the seat of the pants and dragged him home to his parents, who usually were grateful rather than overprotective.

The man on the beat had a certain glamor for youngsters, who stared enviously at his revolver, cartridge belt, hip-pocket blackjack, and billy. The kid who didn't want to be a fireman usually wanted to be a policeman. To grown-ups, the policeman was both an old friend and the protector of the community.

But attitudes have changed, and not only among the disadvantaged and underprivileged. The Association of Chiefs of Police recently reported, for example, that last year 55 policemen were murdered in the course of duty as against 48 in 1962, 37 in 1961, and 26 in 1960. Of every 100 policemen on duty throughout the nation last year 11 were assaulted.

This is the extreme case, but there is little use pretending that a cleavage between police and the community has not developed in the past few decades. The rift is only exaggerated in the slums or among those alien to the culture of the majority. State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy of Pennsylvania blames the increase in crime in the Keystone State on "public apathy."

Some charge the rather general detachment of the average citizen from his police protector to American revolt against authority. Others pin a good bit of it on the automobile, which has made potential law violators of us all. But the causes are not so important as the remedies.

The N. Y. Times reports that of 50 cities where inquiries were made, four — Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Trenton, and Los Angeles — have civilian boards to hear complaints against the police.

William R. Seese

The Junior Conservation Camp, founded in 1948 by the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, is attended each summer by approximately 2,000 boys from the eight divisions of the state, of which the Monroe County Federation is a member.

The camp's main purpose is to train today's youth in conservation education and good citizenship which will, in turn, influence other young people as well as adults in the proper management of Pennsylvania's natural resources.

Seese is the first boy to be sponsored by the local branch of the Federation for several years. Each area school superintendent was invited to submit the name of a candidate to attend the school and the selection of the winner was made by committee members John B. Durkee, Stroudsburg, and Thomas Carson, Cherry Valley.

Levi Borger, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Borger, Kresgeville, is also attending this camp session. He is sponsored by the West End Rod and Gun Club.

This latest call will bring the total of draftees since 1950 to 2,981,950.

Wages in Italy have risen 25 per cent in the last two years.

Kunkletown Still Second

S-burg A's Top Saylorsburg To Hold 1st Place In PMBL

STROUDSBURG — The Stroudsburg A's clung to their one-game edge over Kunkletown yesterday, trimming the Saylorsburg Lakers, 8-4, in a Pocono Mountain Baseball League battle.

Kunkletown remained on the heels of the front-runners by defeating the Stroudsburg Poconos, 6-3. Bushkill dropped to a third-place tie with Reeders by losing to Bowmanstown, 4-0. Reeders scored a 7-4 triumph over West End in the other league contest.

The Lakers gained a 2-0 lead over the A's with a pair of markers in the first inning, but Stroudsburg rallied to tie it with two in the fourth and pumped across five in the fifth to seal the verdict.

10 Hits

Tom Barrow went the distance for the A's, striking out 14 batters and walking only two while yielding seven hits. He received 10-hit support from his mates, three of them by Hartley Paffenroth and two others by Lou Fish.

Paffenroth blasted a triple while Bob Hallett smacked a two-bagger for the only extra-base hits of the game.

Kunkletown, meanwhile, won its 12th game against five losses by sending the Poconos down to a 6-3 defeat.

The winners scored four runs in the top of the seventh for a 5-0 lead and added an insurance tally in the eighth. The Poconos failed to score until the seventh when they pushed across their first run and then added a pair in the eighth.

Kresge Winner

Warren Loney and Dave Pierson each hit safely twice for the Poconos while S. Smith, Kibler and Kresge collected two hits apiece for the winners. Kresge hurled the route to pick up the win.

Bowmanstown pushed Bushkill out of second place by chalking up a 4-0 win behind the five-hit pitching of Noll who was supported by a powerful 13-hit attack.

Rehrig hit 3-for-5 for the winners while batting across three runs and scoring once. K. Boyer, Eckhart and David each hit safely twice for the winners.

Bushkill's Bob Butterworth, who went all the way to absorb the loss, got two of his team's five hits.

Third-Place Tie

Reeders moved into a third-place tie with Bushkill by sending West End down to a 7-4 defeat. The winners scored four runs in the bottom half of the first, wiping out a 1-0 West End lead, and then pushed across two more runs in the third for a 6-4 lead after the Gilbert nine had tied the count in the second inning with three markers.

Paul Frailey hurled the distance for the winners, striking out 16 batters while Dave Ruehlman banged out three of Reeders' 11 hits. Carl Besecker, George Hartshorn and Starner each hit safely twice for the winners.

Yanks, Orioles White Sox Win

MINNESOTA (AP)—Jim Bouton, seemingly unaffected by sweltering 94-degree heat, pitched a three-hitter Sunday as the New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 2-0 and held onto their slim American League lead.

Bouton permitted only one Minnesota runner to reach second base. Jimmie Hall doubled to lead off the seventh on a hit that rolled dead in short center field. Bouton got the next three men to strand Hall.

The Yankees scored their first run in the fourth when Tom Tresh was safe on an error by Rich Rollins, moved to second on Mickey Mantle's single, stole third and streaked home on Hector Lopez' groundout for one Yankee run in the fourth.

Lopez cracked his eighth homer for the other New York run, leading off the seventh.

Bouton, hurling his second straight shutout and third of the season, allowed only two-out singles to Rich Rollins in the second and Harmon Kilebrew in the fourth in addition to Hall's double.

Orioles Triumph

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Eighth inning doubles by Jackie Brandt and Norm Siebern lifted the Baltimore Orioles to an 8-7 victory over Kansas City in a free-hitting contest Sunday.

The victory kept the Orioles in second place in the American League race, five percentage points behind the New York Yankees and one-half game ahead of the Chicago White Sox.

Solo Homers

Rookie Berto Campaneris, Manny Jimenez and Jim Gentile hit solo homers for the A's and Ed Charles connected with one on. Campaneris also had a single and a double. Boog Powell homered for Baltimore.

Robin Roberts started for the Orioles and gave up five runs in three innings. Steve Barber worked the next four innings and gained credit for the victory, his sixth against eight losses. Harvey Haddix finished.

Powell's three-run homer in the fourth gave Baltimore a 7-3 lead but the A's came back with four runs in the last of the fourth.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Landis' two-run single in the sixth inning gave the Chicago White sox a 3-1 victory over the Washington Senators Sunday, completing a sweep of a doubleheader and the four-game series.

The White Sox won the opener, 2-1, on bloop singles by Gerry McNertney and Moose Skowron while winner Joel Horlen and two successors checked the Senators on four hits.

The doubleheader sweep pulled the White Sox to within one-half game of the American League-leading New York Yankees.

Gene Stephens singled and Ron Hansen doubled with one out in the sixth inning of the nightcap. Landis scored both with a single to left. Stephens drove in a first inning run after Mike Hershberger singled and was sacrificed to second.

NEW YORK (AP) — Carroll Hardy slammed a tie-breaking homer in the ninth inning of the opener as Houston defeated New York 9-7 Sunday, but the Mets came back to take the nightcap 4-2 as Charlie Smith hit a tie-breaking homer in the seventh.

Hardy's smash, his first homer of the season, was the key blow in a 19-hit Houston attack that finally subdued the Mets in the opener. The homer followed doubles by Joe Gaines and Walt Bond that tied the score.

Miss Wright Wins $2,000

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mickey Wright shook off a closing challenge by Ruth Jessen and pocketed another $2,000 with her eighth victory of the year on the women's pro golf circuit Sunday in winning the $12,500 Milwaukee Open with a 72-hole score of 289.

The 29-year-old queen of the links nursed a three-stroke lead through the final round, finishing with a par-equalling 72 in a head-to-head duel with Miss Jessen under a blistering sun which sent the temperature soaring into the mid-90s at the North Shore Country Club.

Veteran Betsy Rawls and little Judy Torluemke tied for third, earning checks of $1,100 each. Miss Rawls carded a 75 and Miss Torluemke a 73 for 297 totals.

Miss Wright, seeking to lead the pro tourists in money earnings a fourth straight year, boosted her 1964 total to $18,912. She has appeared in just 15 tournaments. Miss Jessen raised hear earnings to $12,052.

Shortly after her victory, Miss Wright headed for her home in Dallas and an appointment with her doctor. She is nursing a stomach ulcer and plans to take a week off from the tournament trail.

CLEVELAND'S IRON CURTAIN

Are the Cleveland Browns holding a secret training camp this year?

You would think so, considering that more information daily pours from behind the Iron Curtain in Russia than you can get from the Brown's training camp in Hiram, Ohio, in a month.

Attempts to find any information concerning Bill Schoonover, the ex-Stroud Union and Syracuse University grid star, have been met only with a multitude of roadblocks.

First, a letter was sent from your correspondent some three weeks ago to the Browns' publicity director requesting specific data on Schoonover.

Before any correspondence reached our desk, a number of telephone calls was made to the Browns' camp at Hiram College, second floor, Centennial Hall (Ph. 1-216-569-7718). There was no answer on all occasions, day or night. Other calls were placed directly to the stadium. Again, no answer.

Another call was placed to Schoonover's father in East Stroudsburg. He wasn't a bit surprised we were unable to contact either young Bill or the Browns. He's been trying, too. Same results.

He also noted that there has been nothing worth mentioning even from the Celeveland Plain Dealer, the city's biggest newspaper.

Finally, a ray of light breaks through the clouds. The publicity director of the Browns acknowledges our letter by sending a copy of the Browns' 1964 Press Book.

And you find a funny thing on Page 24 in the list of the present Cleveland roster.

There it is:"Schoonover, Dick—offensive back —1st year."

The Browns don't even know his first name!

Just for the record, it's Bill.

The Philadelphia Eagles, apparently more concerned about publicity than the Cleveland Browns, send this note from Hershey:

"Big Bob Brown, 276 pounds distributed over a 6-foot-4-inch frame, may be the only rookie starter on the 1964 Eagles team. At least, indications are right now that this Nebraska giant, the club's No. 1 draft choice, has just about clinched the spot as the offensive right tackle.

"Brown, All-American and all everything else, was named on the so-called first team the first time head coach Joe Kuharich picked one for practice. He hasn't left it.

"He and the many other new faces that will make up the 1964 Eagles will appear in the Birds' debut next Saturday in the pre-season opener against the Baltimore Colts in Hershey Stadium.

Brown is certainly a man to watch this season. He is probably the biggest man in camp but it is his amazing speed that makes him such a stickout. He has run the 40-yard dash in 5.1 seconds, shows incredible pursuit in scrimmage, raises havoc with the defensive end and has picked up the pro cross-blocking technique with a quickness that has delighted offensive line coach Dick Stanfel.

But one thing the Eagles have in common with the Browns is this note in Philly's press release:

"The coaching staff is reticent at this time to make any comment on Brown . . ."

It seems that all comments on any rookies from the NFL camps comes only when the cuts are made. And I guess a cut is as good a comment as you can make.

Swimmer Sets World Record

LOS ALTOS HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A world record and American record fell in the opening two events of the Sunday program in the National AAU Outdoor Swimming championships when Sharon Stouder, 15, won the 200-meter butterfly and Dick Roth, 16, took the 200-meter individual medley.

Miss Stouder, already the 100-meter freestyle champion, swam the butterfly in 2 minutes 26.4 seconds, smashing the world record of 2:29.1 set by Sue Pitt of Fair Lawn, N.J. Miss Pitt finished second this time in 2:30.8.

"A Command"

"I thought I had a record most of the way,' said Miss Stouder, of City of Commerce in Los Angeles County. "I felt I had command from the start—my only worry was that maybe I couldn't hold it.'

Hers was the eighth world record bettered in this four - day meet.

The fast time for the event in this meet previously was Sharon Finneran's 2:31.2 in 1962. Miss Finneran is from Los Angeles.

The 200 butterfly is a non - Olympic event but internationally recognized.

Roth won his second gold medal with a time of 2:15.5 to better the American and meet records of 2:15.9 by Ted Stickles of Indiana University, who was unable to compete in this event because of a sore elbow.

World Record

Roth on Friday brought home a world record in the 400-meter individual medley with a time of 4:48.6. The 400 will be an Olympic event, the 200 will not.

In the finals of the 200, the husky student body president of Menlo-Atherton High School beat Rich McGeagh of Verdugo Hills, Calif., who finished in 2:16.8.

Individual medley competitors first swim backstroke, butterfly, breaststroke and freestyle.

Sprint ace Don Schollander of Santa Clara, Calif., who broke world records in the 400 and 200 meter freestyle on Friday and Saturday evenings, equalled the American mark of 54.0 for 100 meters in winning his third event Sunday night. His time established a new meet record.

Capacity Crowd

A capacity crowd of about 3,500 watched the flurry of record swimming at the 50-meter Foothill College pool.

Cathy Ferguson of Los Angeles won her second championship and tied her own meet record of 1:09.2 as she captured the 100 - meter backstroke. Earlier she had won the 200-meter backstroke.

Tribe Trims Tigers Twice

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians completed a doubleheader sweep over Detroit Sunday, beating the Tigers 2-1 when pinch hitter Larry Brown drove in the winning run with a hit to the outfield that wound up as a force play at second base in the 11th inning.

The Indians won the opener 6-1 as Sam McDowell pitched a four-hitter and Woodie Held belted four hits, including a homer.

The weird windup of the nightcap — and one of the most unusual plays of the season — came about this way:

First Game

Detroit	001 000 000—1	4 1
Cleveland	103 002 00x—6	12 0

Cards Beat Reds, 5 to 4

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Carl Warwick's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded in the eighth inning drove in the tie-breaking run as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Cincinnati 5-4 Sunday despite a pair of two-run homers by the Reds' Deron Johnson.

Bill McCool, the loser in relief for the Reds, filled the bases in the eighth on a walk, Julian Javier's double and an intentional pass before Sam Ellis yielded Warwick's sacrifice fly.

Curt Simmons was the victim of Johnson's 13th and 14th homers. Johnson hit a 450-drive to the center field seats after Dick Groat's error in the fourth inning. Johnson connected again in the eighth after Vada Pinson singled.

Curt Flood smacked a homer in the first inning and the Cardinals added a run on Lou Brock's double, Bill White's single and Frank Robinson's error.

Nagle Wins Canada Golf

MONTREAL (AP) — Australia's Kel Nagle, the 1960 British Open champion, forged a four-under par 67 Sunday, overhauled front-running Arnold Palmer and two others and won the Canadian Open Golf Championship.

The 43-year-old Nagle, who leaped into contention with a course record-equaling 66 Saturday, came from one stroke off the pace and finished with a 277 total, seven under par for 72 holes over the rolling Pinegrove course.

It was the first tourney victory of the year for the big, greying veteran and his first important title since he won the French Open three years ago.

Palmer, the four-time Masters champ from Latrobe, Pa., shared the lead with Bill Collins of Baltimore and young Ray Floyd going into the final round. But he encountered some putting miseries and had to settle for second, two strokes back at 279.

Palmer went to a 70 on the final round, missing seven putts of less than four feet.

Floyd, 21-year-old pro playing out of St. Andrews, Ill., shot a 71 for 280 and third place. Dan Sikes Jr., Ponte Vedra, Fla., came in with a 70 for 281. Collins, playing out of Grossinger's, N.Y., had a 73 for 282.

Dodgers Blast Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Maury Wills pounded a double and single, stole two bases and started two doubleplays in the field Sunday leading the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-1 victory over the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies.

The loss, coupled with San Francisco's 2-1 victory at Pittsburgh, trimmed the Phillies' edge over the second-place Giants to 1½ games.

Wills scored the Dodgers' first run when he started the game with a double, stole third and scored on Jim Gilliam's grounder.

The Dodgers put it out of reach in the fourth when a single by Willie Davis, Ron Fairly's triple and a single by Nate Oliver produced two runs.

Tommy Davis homered for the Dodgers in the sixth and two more runs scored in the seventh on singles by Oliver and Gilliam and Cookie Rojas' muff of a fly ball by Willie Davis.

Bob Boozer started for the Phillies and took the loss. He is now 1-1.

Angels Nip Bosox, 2-1

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Rodgers' run-producing single in the ninth inning off ace Boston reliever Dick Radatz gave the Los Angeles Angels a 2-1 victory over Boston Sunday.

Radatz, making his 55th appearance, came on in the eighth. He got into trouble in the ninth when Jim Fregosi walked with one out. Willie Smith then flied out but Joe Adcock bounced a single up the middle and Rodgers followed with his clincher.

The defeat was Radatz' fifth against 10 victories. Fred Newman checked the Red Sox on five hits and won it, bringing his record to 9-4.

Emerson, Stolle Outlast Mexicans

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle outlasted the Mexican pair of Antonio Palafox and Rafael Osuna 18-16, 7-9, 7-9, 6-4, 10-8 Sunday and staked Australia to a 2-1 lead in the American Zone Davis Cup semifinals.

The Australian doubles victory put the pressure on Mexico in Monday's final two singles matches in the best three-of-five tourney.

In 'Big 33' All-Star Grid Game

Pennsy Had It Up Front To Count Against Texas

By DAVE LEHERR

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — It's what's up front that counts—and that's where Pennsylvania had it.

Three sensational goal line stands and an 80-yard touchdown run by Uniontown's Ben Gregory sparked the Keystone State to a 1216 triumph Saturday night over Texas in the 1964 "Big 33" high school All-Star football game.

When all was said and done, Pennsylvania won the battle where it figured to be strongest—along the front line.

Three times the Texans marched within the Pennsylvania 10-yard line only to be turned back when touchdowns seemed almost inevitable.

Field Goals

Twice Jimmy Russell of Hurst Bell was forced to kick field goals. The third time the Texans lost the ball on downs at the three.

"If I could keep these boys for years, I'd challenge any college team in the country," said a jubiliant Pennsylvania Coach George (Lefty) James, former head coach at Cornell. "I've never had a college team which hit so hard as those kids."

Efforts already are under way for a return match next year between the two big football states.

Paves The Way

It also was Pennsylvania's front line that paved the way for Gregory's sensational fourth quarter touchdown run. The 185-pound speedster took a Texas punt on his own 20-yard line, circled back to the 15, then raced down the left sideline behind a perfect wall of protection as the record throng of 23,251 at the Hershey Stadium roared with approval. Tackles Greg Shelly of Souderton and George Katzenbach of Philadelphia Roxborough threw the key blocks that sent Gregory on his way.

Trailing 3-0 at the half, Pennsylvania struck back like lightning in the third period with a 52-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Bob Bazylak of McKeesport to Bob Longo of Pittsburgh Baldwin. Russell knotted the count minutes later with a 20-yard field goal. His first was 33 yards in the second quarter.

Pennsy Spark Plug

Bazylak was the sparkplug of the second half Pennsylvania surge, completing 8 of 16 passes for 115 yards. His overall total for the night was 10 completions in 20 attempts for 154 yards.

Wilmur Cooks, a 210-pound fullback from Dallas Madison, and Rusty Harris of Abilene were the workhorses of the Texas team until quarterback Al zflerro of Big Springs, unleashed a massive air attack in the second half.

Texas Coach Bobby Layne, the former National Football League star, called the game a "tough battle."

"I'm really proud of all the boys," he said. "They have nothing to be ashamed of. Maybe next year."

James said Gregory was the outstanding player of the game.

"All I could think of was those fast Texas guys chasing me," the Uniontown star laughed in describing his scoring sprint.

Snider's 8th-Inning Single Gives Giants 2 To 1 Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Veteran outfielder Duke Snider lashed a run-scoring single in the eighth inning, snapping a tie and giving the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh Sunday.

The triumph boosted the Giants back to within 1½ games of the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies, who lost to Los Angeles 6-1.

Jose Pagan started the decisive eighth for the Giants by beating out a hit between third and short. Chuck Hiller then forced Pagan and reached second base on a fielder's choice before Snider stroked his key single off Bob Friend.

Friend, now 9-11, had allowed only four hits through seven innings.

The Pirates had tied the score 1-1 in the seventh when Dick Schofield walked, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Manny Mot's single.

The Giants scored their first run in the fifth. Del Crandall doubled with two out and came home on a single by Giants' starter Bob Hendley.

Braves Lose To Cubs, 5-1

CHICAGO (AP)— The Chicago Cubs snapped a five-game losing streak Sunday, downing the Milwaukee Braves 5-1 behind the strong pitching of Ernie Broglio.

Broglio, recording his second victory as a Cub and his fifth against nine losses, brought an end to Milwaukee's four-game winning streak by keeping eight hits well scattered.

The Cubs gave Broglio all the support he needed in the first two innings.

The Cubs knocked out starter Hank Fischer in the second inning and tagged him with his second loss against nine victories when Billy Cowan opened with his 15th homer.

Milwaukee averted a shutout in the fourth as a double by Joe Torre and Felipe Alou's single produced a run.

New York Yankee manager Yogi Bera, who appeared in 5 World Series games, never stroked a three-base hit in the fall classic.

Tom Murphy, assistant trainer of the Cincinnati Reds, played professional football for the Newark Bears from 1927 to 1932.

Only two punts were blocked during the 1963 National Football League season and both were against Tommy Davis of the San Francisco 49ers.

The Houston Colts were the only National League team to switch training sites this spring. The Colts trained in Arizona last year; in Florida this spring.

State GOP To Hit Teenagers

HARRISBURG (AP) — Even though teen-agers don't vote, the Republican state organization is going to work on that younger segment of society to shape its thinking along Republican lines.

This was indicated Friday by an announcement of a Republican youth training seminar.

State Republican Chairman Craig Truax said the school would be held at Pennsylvania State University Aug. 23-29. He said more than 100 teen-agers are expected to attend.

"Republican philosophy and policy will be explained," he said. "We want those attending the week-long meeting to understand our party's action plans for the future."

Truax said the seminar's program was designed to give teenage participants an academic approach to politics and government backed up by guidelines for achieving success when they seek practical experience in the field of politics.

Classes will be held in politics and government, a model congress will be set up and plans will be laid for organizing teenage Republicans across the state.

Dr. Kenneth Palmer and Dr. Wallace Brewster, professors of political science at Penn State, and Dr. Philip Eyrich, of Albright College, will be among the speakers.

Frank O'Gorman, former professor of English at Scranton University and administrative assistant to U.S. Rep. Joseph McDade, R-Pa., will direct the seminar.

Tate Tours Naval Yards

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor James H. J. Tate made a fact-finding tour Friday of the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard, just as another 225 workers were laid off. The yard, whose work force was 11,200 five years ago and 9,000 one year ago, now is down to 7,900.

"I feel particularly concerned because 225 employes are being laid off today," Tate said. "I've notified the Navy Department that I feel this is uncalled for, especially since the U.S. Senate just approved a bill for the construction of 53 new ships."

The last new ship under construction here, the helicopter landing vessel Guam, was one of the stops on Tate's tour.

With the mayor were members of his new citizens' group, the Naval Shipyard Committee, and an employe organization—the Joint Committee for Yard Development.

Tate said a proposal to convert the yard, at a cost of "less than a half-million dollars," to nuclear vessel construction and overhaul has been passed three times by the House of Representatives, but rejected each time by the Senate.

Negroes May Pass Pamphlets

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — U.S. District Judge John Morgan Davis ruled Friday that civil rights groups in Chester, Pa., may for the present, distribute circulars there without registering with the city clerk. But he warned the groups to be careful to avoid "inflammatory statements or accusations" in the handbills.

Issuing a temporary injunction against Chester authorities, Judge Davis found that the plaintiff, the Chester Committee for Freedom Now, might suffer "irreparable harm" if the city enforces a licensing ordinance of 1957.

He directed that the injunction remain in force pending further order.

Judge Davis said the group's complaint, challenging the validity of the ordinance "raises a substantial question of possible deprivation of federal constitutional rights."

U.S. Urges Road Work Speedup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Public Roads made public Tuesday a list of 79 cities and urban areas which it says are not making sufficient progress in planning new construction under the 1962 federal-aid highway act.

Failure of the areas to complete planning by next July 1, the deadline provided in the act, could mean loss of federal money for highway construction.

Rex M. Whitton, federal highway administrator, said each of the areas "still has adequate time to meet the requirements of the act, but only if they accelerate their progress."

The cities and metropolitan areas listed by the bureau in the laggard category include:

Altoona, Harrisburg, Johnstown and Reading, Pa.

Milkmen Lose Court Battle

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Milk Control Commission lost the first round Friday in its court litigation to compel compliance of a Columbia County dairy with the milk code.

Commonwealth Court rejected the commission's petition for a temporary order to bar the dairy from doing business until the case is adjudicated.

The state agency brought suit July 6 against Bloomsburg Dairies, Inc., charging it with operating without a dealer's license and with selling milk below minimum prices set by the state.

In denying the plea for a temporary injunction, Judge Carl B. Shelley noted that the commission could renew its motion at any time during the remainder of proceedings in the case.

Still pending is the commission's suit to compel Bloomsburg Dairies to make application for a dealer's license and conform with pricing regulations.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Anthony W. Novasitis Jr., representing the Milk Commission, told the court Thursday that it was not the intent of the state to put the dairy out of business. Rather, he said, the commission wanted to end an "unregulated" portion of the business.

Cronkite Out At Demo Convo

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System will replace Walter Cronkite with a two-man anchor team in its television coverage of the Democratic National Convention next month.

CBS announced Thursday that Robert Trout and Roger Mudd would be the anchor team.

TV Cable For Milford Discussed

MILFORD — The Pike County Chamber of Commerce heard a report this week on a project to install a television cable in the Milford area at a recent meeting in Milford.

Harold Hess, chamber member, explained that installation of the cable would mean local residents could receive 10 good channels (7 from New York, 3 from Philadelphia).

There is dissatisfaction with TV reception in the Milford area at present, Hess noted.

He estimated the cost of the installation, which would cover 10 miles of the mainline cable, at $70,000. He also estimated costs of connection to the cable at $69.95. Monthly rates for its use would be $5 for the first set and $1.95 for the second set.

An antenna allowance of $20 would be made to most consumers, which would reduce connection costs to $49.95.

Surveyed 100

Hess reported a survey of 100 people in the Borough of Milford showed that 55 would go on the system immediately, 30 would go on it later, 10 would not say and five were opposed.

Hess has applied to the Milford Borough Council for a franchise to install the cable on his own poles, three to a block. He said the poles would be necessary because existing poles are unsatisfactory for cable use.

Following Hess' report, the Chamber urged that the Milford Borough Council investigate his application as quickly as possible.

August Metz Jr., public affairs chairman, said that high ranking Army Engineer personnel had recently told him that land would not be acquired for the Tocks Island Dam for 10 years or maybe longer.

Metz said he believes people living in the proposed flood area should continue to improve and maintain their properties, with the view of staying there quite a long time.

Witnesses Convention Scheduled

EAST STROUDSBURG—The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society has scheduled a meeting for Jehovah's Witnesses of Pennsylvania Circuit No. 2 at Allentown, Sept. 4-6.

Stephen F. Bortlick, presiding minister of the East Stroudsburg congregation, said that "the purpose of the assembly is for the Witnesses to keep abreast with the times and the Bible."

He further remarked, "Because of the many new ministers being added to the ranks of the Society, the program is designed to aid them to come to Spiritual maturity and to become skilled in teaching persons of good will the 'Everlasting Good News' of God's Kingdom."

Pennsylvania Circuit No. 2 embraces 17 congregations, the majority of which are in the Lehigh Valley. "The local congregation," said Mr. Bortlick, "has 51 active ministers."

Tentative arrangements have been made. The place of meeting will be announced later.

GOP Rally In Northampton

BANGOR — Joseph C. Bruno of Philadelphia Republican candidate for the Superior Court, will be featured speaker at Northampton County Republican Clubs Assn. annual clambake Aug. 8 at Birchwood Acres.

To kick off the 1964 GOP campaign in the county, a number of other party candidates will speak at the event. They are Leo McCormick, seeking the U.S. representative post from the 15th district; Earl Garland, state senator; and Mrs. Marie Louise Daub, Melchior Warner, Russel Moyer, and Barry Koons, all state representatives.

21 Attend Bible Camp

HOLLISTERVILLE — Tri-State Bible Camp, near Port Jervis, was the setting for a camping and spiritual retreat experience for 21 young people from the Bible Protestant Church here. The speaker at the camp was Craig Massey.

Those attending were Elizabeth and Lillian Schindler, Judy and Glenn Van Sickle, Eloise Polley, Don and Louise Wittenbender, Nancy and Karen McCurdy, Susan and Barbara Hemmler, Dale Walton, Mary and John Morcom, Lynn and Jerry Parry, Paul and John Gregorski, Billy Mitchell, Devie Scott and Gail Locklin.
